The definition of a "Muss officer" in the Muzrai Regulation includes "the Dy Comr" and an "Asst Comr" but when the power of deciding any question or class of questions connected with religious or charitable institutions shall have been delegated in writing by the Dy Comr. The Dy Comr can therefore delegate all his powers in Muzrai matters to the Asst Comr, and it does not seem necessary perhaps to specify any particular powers to be delegated to the latter class of officers:-

I think the requirements of the case will be met if a circular is addressed to the D.C instructing them to delegate to their S.D.Os the powers in question. There is no need to raise any legal question in the present instance. If the D.C. furnishes with the issue of a notification, then one may issue.
